CTHRA's Members Elect Six New Members and Two Incumbents to Board of Directors

NAPERVILLE, ILL., January 14, 2015 — The Cable and Telecommunications Human Resources Association's (CTHRA) recent elections resulted in the re-election of two board members, Lisa Kaye, president and CEO of greenlightjobs, and NJ Pesci, executive vice president of human resources (HR) for Scripps Networks Interactive, and the addition of six new members: Doug Adkins, vice president of HR for ESPN; Dave Crossen, senior vice president of HR for NBC Broadcasting and Advertising Sales; Marisa Famulare, senior vice president of HR, East Coast, for HBO; Fatimah Garvey, vice president of compensation for CBS Corporation; Judith Mills, group vice president of HR for Mediacom Communications; and Alisha Penick, vice president of talent rewards, engagement and mobility at Turner Broadcasting System.

Members of CTHRA's executive committee will complete their two-year terms in 2015: President Sheryl Anderson, executive vice president of HR and administration for Starz; Vice President/President-Elect Abby Pfeiffer, senior vice president of HR for Charter Communications; Treasurer Janice Turner, senior vice president of HR for WOW! Internet, Cable and Phone; and Secretary Eric Hawkins, executive vice president of HR management for Discovery Communications. In addition, Rhonda D. Taylor, executive vice president and chief people officer for Cox Communications, was re-appointed to the executive committee for another one-year term.

Also continuing in their posts are board members Seth Feit, group vice president of HR for Time Warner Cable; Robert Fodge, vice president of Comcast Business; Pamela Hagan, corporate vice president of HR for Bright House Networks; and Tom Tooker, vice president of HR for A+E Networks.

CTHRA's board of directors is responsible for the nonprofit organization's strategic planning, policies, financial management and program development. The board will hold its first meeting of 2015 in St. Petersburg, Fla., on February 5.
