CTHRA Symposium to Focus on Leading Seismic Change

Dr. Lois Frankel to Keynote the Philadelphia Event

NAPERVILLE, ILL., June 21, 2018 —As a follow up to last year's sold-out HR Symposium, CTHRA has announced details about the 2018 event which will be held on October 1 and 2 in Philadelphia. With a theme of "Leading Seismic Change," each session will feature industry experts sharing practical insight on high-impact topics.

The keynote speaker is a New York Times best-selling author and pioneer in the field of executive coaching: Dr. Lois Frankel (pictured left). During her session, Dr. Frankel will address the critical role of human resources (HR) leaders in effecting change. Using real-time examples of successful change leaders, she will reveal typical mistakes to avoid and the top 10 things leaders must do to effectively implement change.

CTHRA's HR Symposium will include the following breakout sessions:

- Agility at the Fault Line
- Digital HR Transformation
- Feedback: A Groundbreaking Advantage
- Shifting from Unconscious Bias to Inclusivity
- Bridging Generational Gaps at Work
- Design Thinking

Online registration is open at www.CTHRASymposium.com and attendees can save $50 by registering by July 13. Group discounts are also available for six or more attendees from the same company, please contact Colleen Gorniak at cgorniak@cthra.com for details.
